OATMAN SHOWS REAL ACTIVITY IN MANY MINES

Numerous Discoveries Are Being Made—Deals of Importance Recorded Frequently.

By JAMES T. O'BRIEN

OATMAN, Ariz., Mar. 13.—The prediction that the strike of rich ore by Stoney and Ferra would not be the last important find along the surface of the older vein systems at Oatman was made good during the week when the news was given out of the finding of a 5-foot vein of live looking ore on the Federal Reserve group, at a point 1,000 feet a little north of east of the main shaft of the Bonanza Gold Roads mine. The vein is very well defined, the appearance of the ore is characteristic of the district, and Joe Onetto, who was in charge of development on the Gold Roads mine that opened up millions, says that conditions are ideal for a mine on the Federal Reserve.

The Federal Reserve group is now owned by Harry L. Simons, J. Harry Drake and George Stoney, and as their assays indicate that the average values for the 5-foot vein are $28.98 per ton, they will at once organize a company and begin active development.

The proximity to and similarity of conditions to those at the Gold Roads mine are of course very encouraging to the Federal Reserve owners. On the 500 level of the Gold Roads was one of the longest orebodies known, being no less than 3,000 feet long and from 3 to 20 feet wide, with all commercial ore.

Another important discovery has been made on the Oatman combination, which is controlled by R. L. Johns, Sheriff Mahoney, Senator Curtin and Jim Dower. In resuming work at the 550-foot shaft after a five years' shutdown it was found that swelling ground had caused the timbers to give way at the 100-foot point, and the resulting cave exposed a fine looking vein that measures 6 feet from wall to wall. Superintendent Dower is confident that it is the extension of the Oatman United vein and he is equally confident that in drifting on it a commercial orebody will be opened up. The average values at this time are given as from $6 to $8 per ton.

The Stoney-Ferra lease on the Tom Reed continues to hold the center of the stage on account of its real high grade ore. Visitors—and especially members of the party of distinguished newspapermen, financial writers, bankers and brokers from Los Angeles who are making a personal examination of the mines of the camp—are quite enthusiastic over the rich ore. Some go so far as to say "It's all gold"—and it is violating no confidence to say that is somewhat exaggerated.

Over to the northwest of the Stoney lease, George McDevitt is prosecuting important work on the Gold Cliff Central. In quick time he has built 3,000 feet of road and is installing a complete equipment for sinking shaft to develop the main Tom Reed vein and one of its branches—both of which are believed to contain good orebodies. The Gold Cliff is also deepening the 70-foot shaft on its Oversight vein and will crosscut later.

The United Eastern made its regular shipment of bullion Saturday. It is worth about $50,000, which is the average value for a ten days' run—cleanups and shipments being made three times a month.

The management of the Gold Key—which adjoins the Gold Dust, Boundary Cone and Pioneer—announces that work will be resumed this month. Some sensational rich ore was found on the 300 level of the Gold Key, and payshoots both to the east and west have been opened on the 200 and 300 levels, the average value of the ore being $16 per ton, after excluding the high grade above referred to. Drifting will be continued and diamond drilling will also be done.

A decided improvement has taken place in the east drift on the 200 level of the Gold Dust. When work was resumed the samples ran $2 per ton, while on Friday assays showed average values of $12 per ton across nearly three feet. Diamond drilling at the 500 is now in progress.

J. K. Turner, consulting engineer of the Oatman United, was here during the week. In discussing condi-

EARTH SHOCKS FELT AT SAN SALVADOR

(By Associated Press)

SAN SALVADOR, Republic of Salvador, Mar. 13.—Earth shocks are being felt in Nicaraguan departments of Granada, Carazo and Rivas, says a Managua dispatch. Buildings were damaged and fissures are visible in the earth. The volcano Omotepe is continuing in eruption. No loss of life is reported.

MUSCLE SHOALS MAY BE OPERATED U. S.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 13.—Chairman Norris, of the senate agricultural committee, announced he was preparing for submission to the committee, a bill creating a government owned corporation empowered to develop and operate the Muscle Shoals project.

At the mine he stated that the rhyolite dike carries values in the portion that has been situated by the mineralizing solutions from the vein itself, and that quartz must be present to carry values. The solutions that deposited the values in the vein also pushed out into the rhyolite and deposited values, the farther from the vein the smaller being the values. Mr. Turner has recently returned from New York and calls attention to a change in sentiment there in regard to mining. Six months ago mining was an unpopular subject, but now New Yorkers want to hear of it.

Drilling on the San Francisco has been unavoidably delayed, but will be in full swing before the week is over. The Big Jim Cons. drill is in action at the junction of the vein with the rhyolite dike that goes through the Oatman United. The Merry Widow drill is making good progress toward the 500-foot point where they expect to tap the vein and the ore. The United Eastern has been drilling for some time in its No. 3 shaft, but nothing is given out as to results secured.

The deal for the Black Range has been concluded and Teter & Co. of Los Angeles, are now in control, with A. G. Keating local manager. The deal calls for $100,000 to be put in the treasury, and a diamond drill has already been ordered to thoroughly test the ground at depth. Outside of the proven and producing mines there is hardly a property in camp that is so popular with the working miners.
